CFPB's Remittance Transfer Rule

- Regulates consumer remittance transfers to designated recipients in foreign countries in the amount of $15 or higher with four consumer protections:
 - Requires disclosure about important transaction terms, error resolution, and cancellation
 - Establishes error resolution procedures
 - Establishes cancellation and refund policies
 - Establishes remittance transfer provider's liability for agent's acts

Rulemaking History

- February 2012: final rule and proposal to address transfers scheduled in advance and remittance transfer provider
- July 2012: technical correction to model forms

Combined Disclosure Option

- Allows provider to provide combined disclosure in lieu of prepayment disclosure and receipt
- Combined disclosure contains same information as receipt
- If consumer proceeds with transaction, proof of payment must be provided

Estimates

- Temporary Exception for Depository Institution or Credit Union
 - Applies to exchange rate, taxes and fees imposed by other persons, transfer amount, and total amount transferred. Expires 7/15/2015 but CFPB can extend for five years
- Permanent Exceptions
 - If provider cannot determine exact amounts because of a recipient nation's laws
 - Recipient's nation methods for transfer do not permit providers to know amount of currency to be received. CFPB's safe-harbor list of qualifying countries: Aruba, Brazil, China, Ethiopia and Libya
 - For transfers scheduled at least five business days before future transfer, estimates may be used for certain terms in prepayment disclosure and receipt. A second receipt with accurate figures must be provided no later than one business day after transfer
- When estimates are used, provider must comply with 12 C.F.R. §1005.32(c) concerning methodology for calculating estimates

Right of Cancellation

- Sender generally has 30 minutes after payment to cancel the transaction, provided funds have not been picked up and provider is able to identify transaction
- Once a provider receives a valid cancellation request, it has three business days to refund the total amount of funds the sender provided, including fees and taxes (unless prohibited by law) and cannot impose fees for cancelling the transaction.
- For transfers scheduled at least three business days in advance before transfer, sender may cancel if provider receives request at least three business days before scheduled transfer.

Error Resolution

- Error resolution is generally governed by §1005.33 instead of §1005.11
- Qualifying errors:
 - incorrect amount paid by a sender (except for estimates)
 - computational error
 - failure to make funds available in the amount of currency stated (except for estimates)
 - failure to make funds available by disclosure date (except for extraordinary circumstances)

- Consumer has 180 days after funds availability date to report error
- Provider has 90 days to complete investigation. If error found, provider has one business day (or as soon as reasonably practicable after) to make refund in appropriate amount to either sender or recipient
- For unauthorized remittance transfers, requirements in §§1005.6 and 1005.11 apply to institution with account

Provider Liability for Acts of Agents

- A remittance transfer provider is liable for any violation of the remittance transfer rules (subpart B of Regulation E) by an agent when the agent acts for the provider
- UCC Article 4A Issue: Under §4A-108 of UCC, Article 4A does not apply to transactions covered by EFTA. If provider is liable for agent's error, Article 4A does not apply to determine provider's rights and responsibilities with other parties to the transfer
- CFPB stated in final rule that it does not possess the legal authority to address this issue
- Federal Reserve Board amended its Regulation J to clarify that Article 4A applies to FedWire consumer remittance transfers unless there is a conflict with EFTA, in which case the EFTA applies

 - Define "Qualified Mortgages" (QM)
 - Potential establish relationship between ability to repay and underwriting variables
- QRM next?

Escrow Proposal

- Issued 2/23/2011 – No due date for final rules
- Proposal would
 - Lengthen the time for which mandatory escrow accounts for higher-priced mortgage loans must be maintained
 - Implement Dodd-Frank Act disclosure requirements regarding escrow accounts
 - Exempt certain loans from statute's escrow requirements – primarily loans extended by creditors in rural or underserved areas that meet certain prerequisites

Delayed Implementation of Title XIV Disclosures

- Title XIV of the Dodd-Frank Act imposes new disclosure requirements for mortgage transactions (Title XIV Disclosures)
- Set to automatically take effect on January 21, 2013 (18 months after transfer date)
- However, CFPB issued Final Rule on November 16, 2012 to delay implementation until after proposed mortgage disclosure rules finalized

Biggert-Waters Flood Insurance Reform Act

- Reauthorizes the NFIP through September 30, 2017 (§100203)
- Increases civil money penalties effective July 6, 2012 from a maximum of $385 per violation to a maximum of $2,000 per violation and removes the $135,000 statutory cap (§100208)
- Requires lenders or servicers to terminate force-placed flood insurance and refund premiums and fees paid by borrower for duplicate coverage within 30 days of proof of borrower's policy (§100244)
- Increases coverage limits on multifamily properties of 5 or more from $250,00 to $500,000 (§100204)

Biggert-Waters Compliance Highlights

- Requires federal banking agencies, federal agency lenders and GSEs to accept private insurance under certain circumstances (§100239)
